THE FAMOUS SHOOTOUT

On Feb. 8, 1887, One hundred thirty two years ago today, Luke Short and "Longhaired" Jim Courtright met in the famous shootout near "Hell's Half Acre" on Main Street in Fort Worth. Bat Masterson was a witness. Former Marshal Courtright was killed. The longest procession in the history of the town honored him by following the casket to Oakwood Cemetery. Each year thousands of tourists visit this cemetery and the two most visited graves are those of Courtright and Short, buried not far from each other.

Many men and women, colorful, famous and infamous lie in that historic cemetery awaiting the Judgment. W.T. Waggoner, Luke Short, Alfred S. Haynes, Charles Culberson, Samuel Burk Burnett, John Peter Smith, K.M. Van Zandt, I.L. Van Zandt, William "Gooseneck Bill" McDonald, Jim Courtright, Pete Martinez, Major Horace Carswell. Cattle barons, oilmen, politicians, bartenders, bankers and gamblers are here. Some were giants of Texas and Fort Worth history, some were planners, some were dreamers, some gunslingers, sinners and saints. Their stories are spelled out on monuments and historical markers and in books and movies a well.

What do these men have in common? The answer is that they all, like we, will one day stand before God.

In another one hundred thirty two years, if the Lord delays His coming, what will men say about our headstone and whom it honors? More importantly, what will the Lord say?

SPECIAL PRAYERS: "I am requesting prayers for my father, John Hampton and my mother Barbara Hampton. My father was hospitalized Tuesday with pneumonia in both lungs. He appears to be beginning to bounce back but has a long road ahead of him. This is the second time in one month that he has been diagnosed with pneumonia. My mother has her own health problems and is trying to rest to prepare for his return home. I continue to try to navigate the multiple layers of the VA to make sure that he is receiving appropriate care and that things are in place if he recovers and is able to return home." Chuck Hampton
